Nine issues on Nov. 5 special election ballot

On the Nov. 5 state special election ballot, there are nine issues. Among them is one referendum question, six bond issues, and two state constitutional amendments.

The most controversial issue is, without a doubt, the referendum issue. The ballot offers three choices: 1A, "Do you want the right to vote for or against any plan for the storage or disposal of low-level radioactive waste?" Or, 1B, "Do you want to vote on any Maine site for disposal of low-level radioactive waste if it is not disposed of safely outside of Maine or at the Maine Yankee site?" Or, 1C, "Against both measures."

The state Secretary of State's office offers the following explanation of the referendum choices.

"This referendum requires the voters to choose between a proposed law initiated by petition and a competing proposal adopted by the Legislature, or to reject both. Each law would require voter approval of future proposals for the handling of low-level radioactive wastes generated or disposed of in Maine, but they differ in the kinds of proposals that would need voter approval."

"The initiated proposal [1A] would require approval by popular vote of any proposal for low-level radioactive waste storage or disposal in Maine, except the storage of waste already authorized at Maine Yankee Atomic Power Station, and except any facility used exclusively for Maine-generated medical or bioresearch wastes. The initiated proposal would also require voter approval before Maine could join in any interstate compact or agreement concerning the storage or disposal of low-level radioactive waste anywhere."

"The legislative alternative [1B] would only require voter approval for facilities proposed to be located in Maine, other than at Maine Yankee, and only for the disposal of low-level radioactive wastes."

Approval of the legislative alternative would approve use of land owned by the Maine Yankee Power Station in Wiscasset for a state-owned facility for disposal of low-level radioactive wastes generated in Maine.

"Under either measure, voter approval would be in addition to other approvals required by law. Under existing statutes, these include the approval of the State Legislature for any future proposal to store or dispose of low-level radioactive wastes in Maine, or for Maine to enter into any interstate compact concerning low level radioactive waste disposal."

"If no choice receives a majority of all votes legally cast on this issue, the proposed law receiving the most votes will be resubmitted to the voters by itself, for adoption or rejection, provided that measure received at least one-third of the votes cast."

BOND ISSUES

The various bond issues on the ballot propose borrowing money for projects which the legislature could not, or did not wish to, fund out of general revenues.

The first bond issue asks voters if they wish to approve a $15,000,000 General continued on Page Three

BETHEL VOTING HOURS

The polls will be open from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. next Tuesday, Nov. 5, at the Bethel Fire Station for voting in the state referendum election.

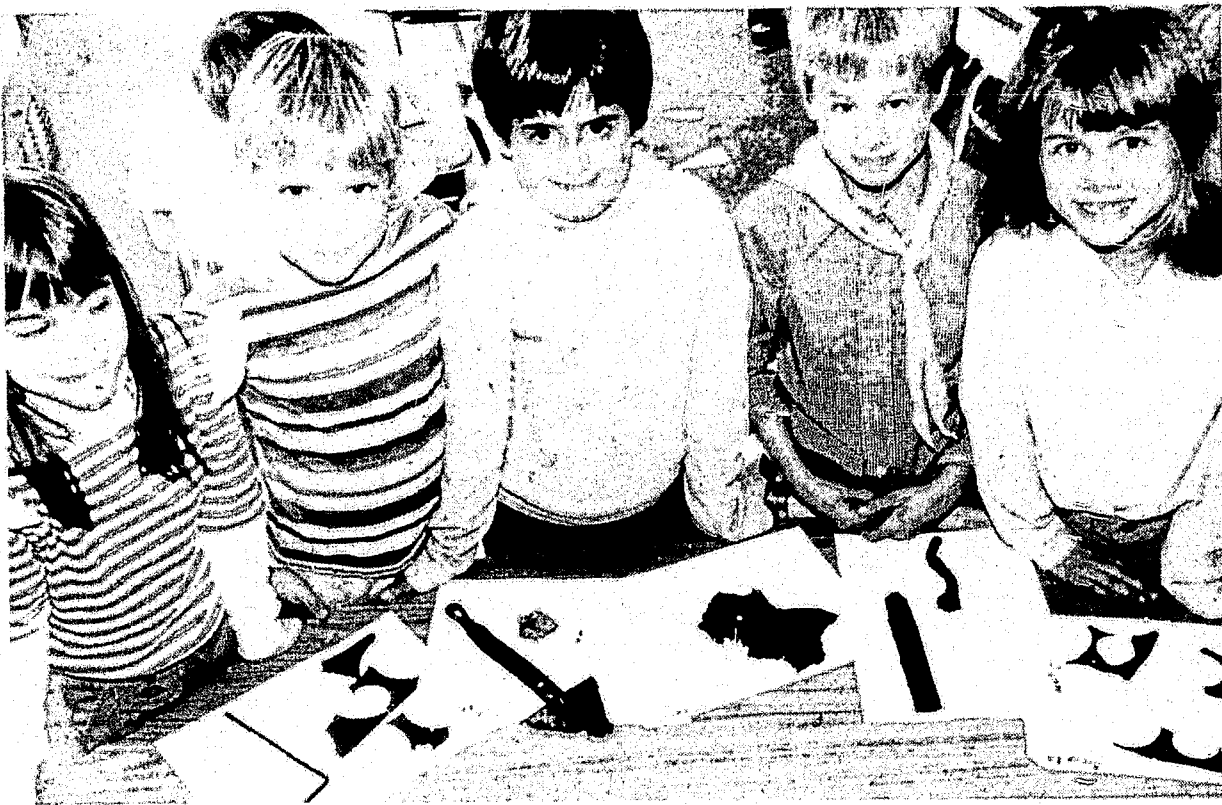

Price of Citizen increases to 25 cents

Beginning with next week's edition, the single-issue price of The Citizen will increase to 25 cents.

The last increase in the newspaper's price was in 1980, when the price went from 15 cents to 20 cents.

Publisher Bernard Wideman explained the price increase was necessary to pay for the higher costs of producing larger editions.

The subscription prices will stay as they are, barring any increase in postal rates. Those prices are $8 in Maine and New Hampshire; $10 elsewhere in the U.S.

YOUNG ARCHAEOLOGISTS: These students in Mrs. Ferguson's third-grade class at Crescent Park School were hunting artifacts last week at an abandoned factory site by The Bethel Inn golf course. The metal artifacts (believed to be from a canning factory) are displayed in front of them. The students are Katelyn June York, Nathan Wright, Dennis Andre, Adam Chamberlin and Amanda Smith. BETHEL SENIOR CITIZENS MEETING WEDNESDAY, NOV. 13 IN GORHAM, N.H.

The Bethel Seniors Club will hold their Wednesday, Nov. 13 meeting in Gorham, N.H., at the American Legion Hall on Androscoggin Street, next door to Rouels Sea Food Restaurant. Dinner will be served at 12 noon, preceded by the business meeting at 11:15 a.m.

All members are reminded that contributions for the cake fund are now due, and membership cards will soon be available for 1986.

Assurances are of a very fine dinner on the 13th so plan to attend. There will be great music to keep you entertained, following dinner.

WINTER PARKING BAN

The Town of Bethel's winter all-night parking ban will be in effect commencing Friday, Nov. 1, 1985, until April 1, 1986. No parking is allowed on any town street or way between the hours of 12:01 a.m. to 6 a.m.

PUC holds hearing here next week on Contel rate request

Next Wednesday, Nov. 6, Bethel area customers of Continental Telephone will have the opportunity to tell the state Public Utilities Commission (PUC) whether Continental is providing adequate telephone service and whether the company's request for a 52 percent increase in local rates is justified.

The PUC has scheduled a hearing for the purpose of taking testimony from residents and businesses in Oxford County about the quality of telephone service provided by Contel. The public hearing will be held at 2:30 p.m. in the Telstar Regional High School.

Any customer of Contel who wants to comment on the company's telephone service or on its proposed rate increase can appear and testify. Whatever statements are made will become part of the record in the case.

Three arrested Monday for assaulting resident

Three men were arrested Monday night in Bethel for assaulting a man in his own house.

The three, Roy Gordon, Richard Spaulding and Paul Spaulding—all of Bethel, were arrested by Lt. Bill Williams of the Oxford County Sheriff's Office around 8 p.m. Monday night along Rte. 26 near the Locke Mills line.

Lt. Williams said he had stopped to question the men, whom he had spotted alongside the road peering towards the Duane Winslow residence. "While I'm checking out their license, Winslow comes up and says, 'Bill, they tried to kill me,'" Lt. Williams recalled.

As reconstructed by the officer, the three men had earlier gone up to the Winslow residence and when Mr. Winslow came to the door one of the men hit him on the head with a pair of knumbucks.

Tax bills out later this week; rate stays steady

The Bethel assessors Monday set a tax rate of $23.30 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. Tax bills were being computed earlier this week and were expected to be in the mail by the end of the week, according to Town Clerk Merton Brown.

Mr. Brown said this was the latest the bills had ever gone out. He said the delay was due to the tardiness of the contract assessor who was paid $400 for checking personal property valuation in businesses in town.

He added a couple hundred thousand dollars in personal property to the tax rolls, which, in part, explains the fact that although the budget increased the tax rate did not.

The town's total valuation (real and personal property) increased about $1 million, to $34,636,700.

At that valuation, and given the state regulations on tax collections, the maximum tax rate the assessors could have set was $24 per thousand, which would have yielded tax revenues of $831,423.

In order to balance the budget, the town needed to raise just $791,831, which could have been done with a tax rate of $22.86. The assessors, however, decided to opt for last year's tax rate, which should produce revenues of $807,035, the extra $15,203 of which will go towards overlay.

The budget looks like this:

Expenses:
County expenses	$32,512
Town expenses	$544,214
SAD #44 expenses	$474,004
Total	$1,050,730
Revenues:
State revenue sharing	$78,569
Surplus account	$120,000
Federal revenue sharing	$55,000
Gould donation	$5,000
To be raised	$791,831
Total	$1,050,730

The tax rate has been climbing steadily since 1976, when the rate was $16.50. However, real estate has not been thoroughly re-valued since 1976. Town Clerk Brown said the assessors are discussing whether to have a complete revaluation performed in order to bring property valuations up to date.

Because of the lateness in getting out the bills, taxpayers will have until Nov. 15 to send in their half-year payments before a penalty is tacked on.

Opinions

Sportsmanship is what counts

It's not whether you win or lose, but how you play the game that counts. Lots of people don't believe that—in sports or in life—but it's really true. Just think about the people you like to be with: are they perpetual winners in everything they undertake or are they good sports when it comes to both success and failure?

School is the place to learn sportsmanship, and therefore it's especially galling to see just the opposite attitude being taught in some places. At Saturday's girls' soccer game between Gould Academy and Kents Hill, a Kents Hill man, in the closing minutes of the contest, walked over to Gould's goalie and told her to keep her mouth shut and play the game. The goalie had, in a lady-like fashion, expressed her disappointment in a referee's call allowing a Kents Hill player to re-kick a penalty kick. (Neither the first kick nor the re-kick went into the net. Gould won the game, 4-0.)

Such behavior was completely uncalled for. One, the Gould goalie actually accepted the referee's call with good grace. Two, if the visiting Kents Hill staffer (his exact position could not be determined because the Kents Hill coach did not return a phone call) had a problem with her behavior, he should have complained to the referee, not jumped on the player. Three, the hot-headed Kents Hiller should understand that high school sports are mainly meant to develop teamwork: if his team was losing, he should be encouraging them not criticizing the opposition.

A few weeks ago, when Gould was playing boys' soccer at Telstar, a Rebel rooster got after the Gould goalie. This was too much for Linda Learned—a Telstar athlete—who went up to the goalie and told him not to mind the razzing remark and wished him good luck in the contest. There's a young woman who is learning something in addition to how to score baskets!

Middle School soccer coach Dan Hannon was faced, a few weeks ago, with an opposing coach who constantly verbally abused the Telstar players. While Coach Hannon maintained his cool, it seems to us that referees could pay closer attention to abusive behavior by coaches.

We're pleased to note that the coaches we've seen in action in both local schools have always behaved themselves properly and have not abused opposing teams or opposing players. This is as it should be. bfw

Election has important issues

Next Tuesday's statewide special election gives voters a chance to act as legislators. There are no people running for office on this ballot—just nine questions concerning everything from low-level nuclear wastes to how many years sheriffs should serve. The questions demand serious consideration. This is not a personality contest.

Here are The Citizen's choices for to consider:

- Concerning a policy for the storage of low-level nuclear waste, voters have a choice to demand total control of where waste sites might be set up (either in-state or out-of-state), or give over part of that control to the legislature. Choice 1A would give voters the right to vote for or against any plan for the storage or disposal of low-level radioactive waste. Choice 1B would give voters the right to vote on any Maine site for disposal, except for the property of Maine Yankee, in Wiscasset.

The Maine Audubon Society and the Maine Natural Resources Council have suggested that 1A is poor legislation. It invites federal pre-emption of the decision for locating a dumpsite if the state's voters refuse to ever approve a site, or it could force a dumpsite on a politically weak region of the state.

Choice 1B, on the other hand, is blatantly pro-nuclear power, and could easily result in Maine Yankee becoming a dumping ground for anyone's low-level nuclear waste. (Under 1A, Maine Yankee would still be allowed to store its own low-level waste—that is, such things as rags, containers, clothing, or anything else contaminated by radioactive materials.) Maine Audubon and the Natural Resources Council prefer a vote for 1C—rejecting both options and allowing the Maine Geological Survey continue its work of finding a suitable site.

Pro-nuke forces argue that 1A would impede the state's ability to join a regional compact to find a regional site. But Massachusetts, which has legislation with the 1A language, has not found that to be the case and is taking part in the present regional talks.

The principal generator of low-level waste in this state is Maine Yankee, with over 90 percent of the state's waste, according to the secretary of state. The remainder is produced by biomedical research and other institutional facilities and the Portsmouth Kittery Naval Shipyard.

Over the long term, Maine should follow the urging of the federal government and join a regional compact, which presently looks as if it will select a site in Massachusetts. In the meanwhile, Maine voters should have veto powers over any new waste sites and should keep a wary eye on Maine Yankee holding any but its own waste. The Citizen therefore supports 1A.

- As for the bond issues, all of them (except one) seem worthwhile, particularly those that will help to improve education, transportation, sewage facilities and water supplies, and preserve physical manifestations of the state's history.

However, the suggestion that $4.3 million be borrowed to set up new centers for advanced technology seems redundant and wasteful. We already have a state university system that has advanced technology programs. We do not need additional educational bureaucracies. The Citizen suggests voting "no" on bond issue two.

- The Citizen also suggests a "no" vote on the first constitutional amendment, which would allow elected representatives to quit their positions and take salaried positions in state government. If a person wants to serve as an elected official, we should expect him or her to serve the elected term. Amending the constitution to permit resigning in favor of an appointed position could also open the door to unsavory horse-trading as some legislators might do favors for state officials in order to receive appointments to political office.

The second amendment seems worthwhile—to extend the term of sheriffs from two years to four years. It takes two years to really get control over a sheriff's department. A person should have four years to show what he or she can do with the department, instead of having to prepare for re-election right away. bfw

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Many thanks for allowing me space in your columns to urge support of Referendum Question #6 on Nov. 5, which would appropriate $2,000,000 on a matching basis for preservation of historic buildings on the National Register and open to the public. It is vital that keep Maine its identity if we are to maintain our unique sense of place and not fall into a homogenized landscape where all buildings look the same. This is becoming increasingly difficult in the age of shopping centers and fast food enterprises. This state money if approved and matched locally would assist in preserving our deteriorating historic buildings and leave future generations significant clues as to where our roots are. Therefore, I urge everyone interested in keeping Maine unique to vote yes on Question Six.

Stan Howe

To the Editor:

As was mentioned in (the) editorial of October 16, 1985 ["Not enough pre-planning"], Hurricane Gloria did indeed cause serious problems for many of our customers. Some of your observations, however, are incorrect.

All of our lineworkers were on duty and standing by at our service buildings in Bridgton and Paris. Our people began the job of restoring power in many areas before the full force of Gloria had struck, and continued working throughout the storm.

All of our people, including lineworkers, meter and office personnel, worked around the clock from Friday, September 27, 1985 to Friday, October 4, 1985. Most of our people had no more than four to five hours sleep each day for that entire week and are to be congratulated for such dedication.

The full force of Gloria struck across Long Island, New York, Connecticut, Rhode Island, and Massachusetts. One can well imagine the devastation that occurred in those areas.

Outside line crews were not available to Central Maine Power Company because of the massive damage to southern New England. We were able to secure about 200 contract personnel to cut trees and set poles.

On Monday, we were able to get four Bangor Hydro crews. These crews were assigned to the Sanford area. On Tuesday, crews from the Public Service Company of New Hampshire were brought in to Maine.

Line crews from Farmington, Waterville, and Skowhegan were brought into the Bridgton District on Monday, September 30, 1985 and remained until all service was restored.

A special task force has been set up within our Company to review our operations during the storm. Much has been learned, and undoubtedly, many operating changes will result.

Finally, I would like to thank all of our customers who were patient and understanding in the days following the storm. This attitude of cooperation made the job much easier for all of us.

Leonard S. Noyes, Jr.
District Manager, Bridgton
Central Maine Power Company

Editor's comment: On the question of bringing in outside line crews, Massachusetts utility companies brought in crews from unaffected areas in Maryland right after the storm hit. A CMP spokesman told The Citizen after the storm the reason outside crews were not brought into Maine immediately was because company officials felt their own people could do the repairs more quickly. Other CMP sources told The Citizen that until the storm hit, vacations of CMP employees had still not been cancelled and therefore some were away when repairs first began. We are glad to learn that a special task force has been set up by the company to review operations during and after the storm. We hope to hear more of that task force's findings.

To the Editor:

As commander of Topsham Memorial Post 202 of the American Legion, I contacted Jeri Brooks of Bethel to solicit ads for our mid-winter booklet. Two days later Bethel's own "Our Miss Brooks" had acquired 12 ads from the local businesses. I want to take this opportunity to thank these 12 businesses for their support of legion programs. I have made several visits to your beautiful town and have always known that Bethel believed in the same ideals as the American Legion, but this effort exceeded even my expectations. Again thank you, Jeri and Bethel for your support.

As I See It . . .

On Nov. 5, the people of Maine will be voting on a number of issues, including a referendum question on the storage or disposal of low-level nuclear waste in our state. On this question, voters will be given three choices: 1A, 1B, or 1C. Briefly, the three choices are as follows:

1A: This is the original question coming from the people's initiative, which got its start in this area of Maine following the public outcry over the inclusion of Riley Plantation on a list of proposed low-level waste disposal sites. This question would give the people the right to vote on any low-level nuclear waste storage or disposal plan proposed by the legislature, including both in-state sites or participation in compacts with other states.

1B: This is the question devised by the legislature as a "competing measure" to the people's initiative. This will make the Maine Yankee site, in Wiscasset, the first priority site; if the Maine Yankee site is approved, there will be no referendum vote by the people. Any other site proposed would require a vote by the people, after approval by the legislature.

1C: This question will keep things as they are, with the legislature deciding on siting, with no referendum votes.

I support 1A for several reasons. I am convinced that public monitoring is vital

To the Editor:

I would like to encourage your readers to visit the Gould Academy art gallery during the next few weeks. The current exhibit features the work of several local artists: Paul Beaton, Marcel Polak, Melody and Garrett Bonnama, and Robert Grover. The presentation of the works is elegant, allowing the quality of the products to come through. The exhibit is a strong statement about the talent present in our area.

The artists represented have been generous in sharing their skills with others in the SAD #44 area. Paul, Marcel, and the Bonnemas are participating in the Art as a Living grant program at Telstar this year, and Bob and Jane Grover were part of the Gould Four Point program last year. All have been active in the SAD #44 Adult and Community Education program over the years, and I am delighted that their work has been shown-cased at the Gould gallery.

The gallery is open every day, from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m., and is located in the yellow art cottage at the corner of Elm and High streets, just behind the main Gould Academy building, Hanscom Hall. Don't miss the opportunity to visit.

MSAD #44 Directors' meeting

The SAD #44 Board of Directors met in regular session in the library of Telstar Regional High School on Monday evening of this week.

Harry Davis was approved as middle school drama coach and auditorium manager. The position of drama coach for the high school remains unfilled. The candidate for the position, from outside the school system, withdrew from consideration due to acceptance of another offer.

The board accepted the resignation of Karen Bean as coordinator of the Academic Standards Steering Committee effective at the close of the current school year. Mrs. Bean, a teacher at the middle school, will have completed three years in the coordinator's role at the conclusion of the year.

The following policy statement concerning attendance was granted first reading approval by the directors: "The Board of Directors of SAD #44 requires for the all-important siting of nuclear waste facilities. Three of the six low-level waste sites have leaked and been closed. The type of public awareness which referendum votes will bring will force more careful examination of such proposed sites.

The required votes will not, in my opinion, hamper Maine's ability to negotiate compacts with other states for nuclear waste storage and disposal. The state of Massachusetts has a similar law and seems to be able to continue to pursue compacts with other states. This is an important issue, as the federal government may force a state which is not in a compact to take waste from other states.

I also feel that the original referendum question (1A) should have gone to the voters without a competing measure (1B). The proponents of 1A had followed the proper procedure for initiating a referendum question and the action of including competing measures is unnecessary tampering with this process.

Selectmen cautious on $20,000 Stowell offer

The Woodstock selectmen responded cautiously this week to the Stowell Products Inc. offer to give the town $20,000 as a goodwill gesture. The town was shortchanged $20,000 in personal property taxes when the Stowell mill was sold by Casco Northern Bank to the new owners. As reported in The Citizen last week, the new owners deny any legal responsibility but feel a moral responsibility to the town to make up the missing $20,000.

Selectman Clifford York said last night at the weekly selectmen's meeting, "We need concrete proposals, not word of mouth." Mr. York said any decision to accept money from the new owners should be made by the voters rather than by the selectmen.

Newly elected Selectman Gary Wing has taken to his job enthusiastically. "It's a lot more interesting than I thought," he said. "There's a lot involved and I've learned a lot already."

The selectmen were told that Road Commissioner Ken Koskela has come to a temporary agreement with the state Department of Environmental Protection regarding the town's uncovered sand pile at the library. Mr. Koskela has draped a tarp over the pile to keep the sand from leaching into the ground and to keep the sand from washing away. However, a permanent solution to the problem (in the way of a shed) is still needed. "We've always known there's a problem," said Selectman York. "The town has just never been ready for a solution. The area over at the new school could solve our problems."

There was bad news on the budgetary front. The state in the town office gave out and chances of repairing it seem slim because of the difficulty of finding spare parts. A replacement stove could cost up to $1,200, the selectmen were informed.

PUC TO HOLD HEARING

The state's Public Advocate office has received complaints from Contel customers in Oxford County about telephone service problems. These customers complained about such problems as having to re-dial toll calls, telephones not ringing, noise on the lines, disconnections, improper toll billing and fading conversations.

Representatives for the PUC and the Public Advocate office will be present at the hearing in Bethel.

"We will be delighted if Continental customers attend the hearing and report that their telephone service is good," said Joel Shafman, general counsel for the Public Advocate's office. "However, if customers are still experiencing service problems, now is the time to tell the PUC. The real danger is that Contel customers who have service problems lose hope and don't report those problems to the company or the PUC."

Contel customers who appear at the hearing in Bethel will also be permitted to comment on the company's proposed increase in rates. The company is requesting a $1.9 million increase in its revenues and proposes to increase its local monthly rates by 52 percent.

The Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce has already formally objected to the rate increase.

If the revenue increase is granted, Contel customers in Oxford County who now pay $8 per month for one-party residential service will pay $12 per month. A one-party business line that costs $15.15 per month will cost $23.10 per month if the revenue increase is approved by the PUC.

Continental Telephone is Maine's second-largest telephone company. It serves approximately 32,000 customers in roughly 160 Maine towns and plantations.

NINE ISSUES ON BALLOT

Fund bond issue for sewage treatment, water quality improvement facilities and restoration and cleanup of oil-contaminated ground water and well water.

The Secretary of State's office explains it as follows: "This act would authorize the state to issue registered bonds in an amount not to exceed $12,000,000 to raise funds for sewage treatment and water quality improvement facilities. The bonds would run for a period of not longer than 20 years from the date of issue."

"This act would also authorize the state to issue registered bonds in an amount not to exceed $3,000,000 to raise funds for the cleanup and restoration of oil-contaminated ground water and well water. These bonds would run for a period of not longer than five years from the date of issue."

The total estimated debt service for these bonds is $20,387,500, figuring 8.5 percent interest for 20 years.

The second bond issue asks voters if they will approve borrowing $4,300,000 for constructing and equipping centers for advanced technology that service the economic development needs of Maine.

The Secretary of State's office explains the question this way: "This act would authorize the state to issue registered bonds in an amount not to exceed $4,300,000 to raise funds to establish centers for advanced technology to support new and existing Maine business and industry. The bonds would run for a period of not longer than 10 years from the date of issue."

The proceeds would be expended under the direction of the director of the Maine Bureau of Public Improvements to build and furnish facilities to develop new products and processes, and to promote the transfer of technological innovations to existing businesses and new enterprises."

The total estimated debt service for this borrowing would be $6,132,875, assuming an interest rate of 7.75 percent over 10 years.

The third bond issue would authorize Department of Transportation bond issues of $20,000,000 to match available federal funds for highway, bridge and airport improvements.

The Secretary of State's office explains: "This act would authorize the state to issue registered bonds in an amount not to exceed $20,000,000 to raise funds to match federal funds for highway, bridge and airport improvements. The bonds would run for a period of not longer than 20 years."

"Proceeds from the sale of the bonds would be used for highway improvements ($10,000,000), bridge improvements ($5,000,000) and airport improvements ($5,000,000). The funds would be expended under the direction of the commissioner of the Department of Transportation."

The total estimated debt service from the borrowing would be $37,850,000, assuming interest of 8.5 percent over 20 years.

The fourth bond issue is for borrowing $850,000 for acquisition of certain rail lines in Maine.

"The proceeds from the sale of the bonds would be used to acquire abandoned railroad lines lying between Brewer and Calais, between Brunswick and Rockland, and between Steep Falls and the New Hampshire border in Fryeburg, as well as other abandoned lines considered by the Commissioner of Transportation to be part of the essential

KIMBALL - TUOMINEN ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kimball of East Bethel are pleased to announce the engagement of their daughter Velora Faye to Bruce Eric Tuominen of Yarmouth. Bruce is the son of Edward and Thelma Gaudet, also of Yarmouth.

Velora is a 1982 graduate of Telstar Regional High School and is employed at the Yarmouth IGA.

Bruce is a 1978 graduate of Yarmouth High School and is employed at Yale Cottage in Yarmouth.

No date has been set for the wedding.

THREE ARRESTED

Though injured, Mr. Winslow did not fall down. Rather, he chased the men from the house.

Lt. Williams said the men were acquaintances of Winslow. He speculated that robbery was the motive behind the assault.

With the assistance of Bethel Police Officer Crawford Perry, the three Vermonters were placed under arrest and taken to the county jail in South Paris. They were arraigned yesterday. Bail was set at $5,000 each.

The trio is currently still in jail awaiting a probable cause hearing set for Nov. 26 in district court.

Mr. Winslow was taken to Stephens Memorial Hospital Monday night, where he required stitches for a head wound. However, he was released after treatment.

Fuel assistance program begins Monday, Nov. 4

"The elderly and handicapped will have priority application as the new fuel assistance program opens November 4," said Linda Haegle, director of Special Services for Oxford County Community Services, which administers the federal Home Energy Assistance Program in Oxford County.

Over 2,430 Oxford County families received fuel assistance last winter under the program, which is designed to help low-income families. While first priority will be given to the elderly and handicapped, non-priority families may apply anytime after Dec. 2 and before April 12.

The program does not pay all fuel expenses, but it does help with expenses for heating oil, kerosene, wood, gas or electricity. Applicants must verify income to qualify and be under the annual income limit. For a household of four, the income limit is $13,313.

Persons wishing to apply for the assistance may do so at the following locations and times:

• In Andover, on Thursdays, at the town office, from 1:30 to 4 p.m.

• In Bethel, on Tuesdays and Thursdays, at the town office, from 1 to 3:30 p.m., or

• On Friday evenings participants were treated to a wine and cheese party at the Dr. Moses Mason House meeting room. Here they had an opportunity to view the exhibit and see the video that accompanies it. Following this event, the group moved to Pleasant Valley grange, in West Bethel, where they were treated to a hearty old-fashioned grange supper, followed by a talk by Dartmouth College historian Jere Daniell, on the subject of whether or not post-Civil War Maine farmers were innovators or degenerates.

Saturday sessions were held all day at The Bethel Inn, highlighted by the keynote address, presented by well-known historian Leo Marx (author of "The Machine and the Garden") of Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Throughout the day noted historians and architectural specialists provided their views and reactions to the conference topic of rural reform and improvement in 19th century Maine.

On Sunday, Thomas Hubka and Bethel Historical Society Director Stanley Howe led a tour of three farms in East Bethel, where conference participants had a first-hand opportunity to test insights gained during the past two days. Much gratitude is expressed to Robert Decatur Hastings, Robert Warren Hastings, Albert Foster and Leslie Noyes for answering numerous questions and making their farms available for this conference.

Final changes in the index for "East Bethel Road" were made last week so the book is now on the press at last, and it is hoped will soon be at the bindery. When it returns from that step, there will still be measurement for and printing of the full-color dust jacket, depicting Susie Kimball's painting of Middle Intervale looking east in 1880. Much appreciation is expressed to all those who have been so patient waiting for this 750-plus-page book that will be a major contribution to the local history of this area.

The fall issue of the society's Bethel Courier is now at the printers and is expected to be mailed next week. This issue features an article on Bethel's Chapman Street by Don and Arlene Brown.

Also at the printers, and expected soon, is the 1986 Bethel Historical Society calendar.

Members and friends of the Bethel Historical Society are reminded that the monthly meeting will be held on Thursday evening, Nov. 7, in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House, beginning at 7:30 p.m. This meeting will also serve as the Society's official reception for the opening in Bethel of the exhibit "A Good Stand of Buildings." Special guests and speakers for the evening will be Sandra S. Hubka, director of the Brick Store Museum, which sponsored the exhibit through a grant from the Maine Humanities Council. Her husband, Thomas Hubka, author of "Big House, Little House, Back House, Barn," will speak on his book and the exhibit.

Anyone interested in attending this meeting and perhaps having his copy of "Big House..." autographed is cordially invited to attend. Copies of the book will be on sale and refreshments will follow the remarks of Tom and Sandy Hubka.

Many parents and community members are most generous with their time and talents and are helping tremendously in the educational process of the young people.

As a result of the field trips, classroom studies are more meaningful and follow-up activities more concrete.

Mrs. Davis, principal of CPS/EBS, is very supportive of the team-teaching efforts of her staff. She encourages the meshing together of field trips with classroom study whenever it is appropriate.

A GOOD STAND OF BUILDINGS is the title of the exhibit currently on display at the Moses Mason House. The exhibit traces the development of the Maine farm during the 19th century. A conference on the subject was held over the weekend at The Bethel Inn, with scholars from all over New England taking part.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

Over 60 people from throughout New England and beyond attended the conference held Oct. 25-27 in Bethel on rural improvement and reform in relation to the 19th century Maine farm.

Organized by the Brick Store Museum, in Kennebunk, it was hosted by the Bethel Historical Society, with funding from the Maine Humanities Council. The conference was held to complement the traveling exhibition, which will be in the Dr. Moses Mason House meeting room until Jan. 25, 1986, and was inspired by Thomas C. Hubka's award-winning book, "Big House, Little House, Back House, Barn: The Connected Farm Buildings of New England."

On Friday evening participants were treated to a wine and cheese party at the Dr. Moses Mason House meeting room. Here they had an opportunity to view the exhibit and see the video that accompanies it. The Robert Kenistons have returned from a week of bird hunting in Jackman. Last week there was a family gathering to celebrate the birthdays of Eva, David and Heather Keniston. Mrs. Eva Keniston celebrated her 91st birthday. Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. Peter Keniston of Farmington.

Mrs. Burton Abbott is a patient at Rumford Community Hospital.

Clarence Kimball has been a patient at Stephens Memorial Hospital.

Daryl and Debbie Brown, daughter Dustie, and sons Damien and Danton, of Bangor; and Mrs. Beth Brown of Lewiston, were Sunday visitors of relatives in the area.

Beth Glover is back at her home at the Bethel House after spending a lengthy time with her daughter, Mrs. Carla Durgin, while receiving treatment at a Bangor hospital.

Those attending the recent meeting of the Western Maine Area Agency on Aging for Oxford, Androscoggin and Franklin Counties were Lindsey Weiden, Earlon Paine, Irene Pike, Julia Brown, Martha Von Zintz, Grace Morrill, Frances Bennett and Clara Rolfe.

Guess what neighbor of mine discovered a little mouse in her trash can (in the kitchen), exclaimed, "EEK!" and deposited said mousey outside?

Except for the fact that Jaime came down with the 24-hour flu this past week, she's been doing fine at the babysitter while I've been toiling at my job. I asked her what she did at the babysitter's and she gave me a shrug of her shoulders. So I asked her specific questions like, "Did you play on the swings? ... slide? ... sandbox? ...". The answer was always a "no" with a smile that got bigger and bigger (along with those chocolate eyes). "Well, what did you do?" I finally asked. "PLAY, Mommy!" Is this where it starts? Where parents lose control because the kids think they know more than Mommy and Daddy? Help!

I've been thinking long and hard about this column... whether or not I should continue.

I'm in trouble now! I go on binges of neatness, but I've found that I work with Mrs. Neat! Help! I may have to keep a dust cloth in my desk all the time now... Just kidding. She's really a nice person. The motto in our office is "Neat and tidy."

Short column this week. Can't seem to type much with two-by-fours in my eyes. Let's see, it's 5:20 p.m. If I go to bed now... I might not get up for two days... Food for Thought: "Triumph is 'umph' added to try."

HEALTH CENTER DANCE

Members of the fund-raising committee for the expansion of the Bethel Area Health Center met this week at the home of Sarah Craig to discuss plans for the Thanks for Giving dance.

A celebration is in order to thank community friends and neighbors for their generosity in contributing to the building fund.

The dance will be held Saturday, Nov. 16, at the Locke Mills Legion Post from 8 p.m. to 12 midnight. The entertainment for the evening will be Ted White and his band. A donation of $5 will be requested in order to cover expenses. Snacks will be sold and those attending should bring their own beverage. Please come and have a good time.

Visitors at Irene Wilson's have been Tom Buckman, Randy Wilson and friend, Tracy, of Concord, N.H.; Jim McConnell, Auburn; Donnie Bretton, Bryant Pond; Herbie Durant, North Waterford; and Gloria Wilson, Bethel.

He's arrived. Daniel William Lessard was born Oct. 22, 1985. His proud and happy parents are Hank and Kathy (Deegan) Lessard of El Cajon, Calif. Grandparents are Joe and Leah Deegan of West Greenwood and Daniel's great grandmother is Margueritea Spinney, formerly of South Bethel. Congratulations, Hank and Kathy. It's good he decided to arrive before his grandmother's vacation is over.

Sunday, Bertrand Tibbets of Oxford stopped by to look at a vehicle. We found that he is the grandson of Herbert Burgess who lived on the Martin Lydon place, I believe, in the neighborhood before he built the camp just across the bridge. He wanted to go up to the old place but found he couldn't get there with a two wheel drive.

Joe and Muriel Gilbert were shopping and visiting family in Lewiston on Wednesday.

MAINE LINE PRODUCTS

PLANS HOLIDAY EXPANSION
Maine Line Products, "Maine Made Gifts," of Maine Street, Bethel, has begun preparing for the annual Christmas expansion.

According to owner Rick Whitney, contracts have been signed with the Auburn Mall and the Windham Mall permitting Maine Line Products to build kiosks. (Kiosks are center aisle booths used for displaying and selling merchandise.)

"Last year was very successful in both locations and we are very happy to have the opportunity to do it again this year," Mr. Whitney said.

As a result of this expansion, Mr. Whitney anticipates hiring at least four additional employees to staff the kiosks. Both kiosks will be set up and operating during regular mall hours, from Nov. 29 to Jan. 4.

Agnes Gray School

By MARTA CLEMENTS

The open house held on Oct. 16 was very well attended and plans are now being made for parent-teacher conferences. Students will be bringing home forms on which parents can choose a date for their conference (Nov. 7 or Nov. 8). The staff will try very hard to schedule brothers and sisters concurrently, so it is important to return the forms. We encourage all parents to attend to discuss their children's progress. During the week of conferences there will be a School Book Fair and both students and parents will have an opportunity to browse and purchase.

Another reminder of the Halloween parade on Thursday, Oct. 31. We will leave the Agnes Gray School at 1:30 p.m. Don't miss us!

Special thanks to our volunteers, both parents and friends. You are a tremendous help: Hazel Billings, Vickie Campbell, Carol Corriveau, Debbie Dembski, Marcia De Paula, Laura Eastman, Minerva Eastman, Minerva Farnum, Avis Hayes, Susan Inman, Carol Penley, Richard Perham, Mary Pierce, Carrie Robinson, Deborah Small and Mary Ann Walton. Please let me know if I have forgotten anyone.

Among other things, a workshop is being planned to offer any interested volunteer some guidance, organization, and support for a very valuable service. And, we are hoping that even more friends of education will volunteer some time. We have two specific areas in mind. We are looking for one or more typists to help type some of the stories for our students' books and we are looking for individuals interested in sharing a skill or craft during our Friday activity.

Every Friday from 2:10 to 2:55 we offer an activity period for grades 2-4. A variety of activities are available and the children sign up for one of their choices. Activities include sports, art projects,

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our deepest thanks and appreciation to relatives, friends and neighbors who were so supportive during our recent bereavement and for their many acts of kindness, contributions and cards.

Our special thanks to The Andover Fire Dept. & Rescue Unit, The Rumford Fire Dept., The Meador & Son Funeral Home, all the Pall Bearers, Rev. Marjorie Churchill & Rev. Norman Rust, Andover Service Circle, Mexico Ladies Aid, West Bethel Chapel Aid Society of the Union Church, Salvation Army, Red Cross & all other service organizations who helped. Words cannot express our gratitude.

ANNUAL BLOOD DRIVE AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH MONDAY, NOV. 18

The annual blood drive will be coming to Bethel on Monday, Nov. 18, and will be held at the West Parish Congregational Church from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m.

The American Red Cross relies entirely on healthy volunteer blood donors. There is much misinformation regarding blood donation and the risk of contracting AIDS. There is absolutely NO risk in contracting the disease during the process of donating blood.

The Red Cross Blood Services also provides detailed information to every prospective donor prior to blood donation such as:

1. Every blood donor is provided the brochure "What You Should Know About Giving Blood." The brochure describes AIDS, its symptoms, and the high risk groups, and points out that individuals at risk should not donate blood. People at greatest risk for AIDS are:

- Males who have had sex with more than one male since 1979.
- Past and present abusers of intravenous drugs.
- Patients with hemophilia.
- Sexual partners of other individuals at risk.

2. Every potential donor meets with a trained person who makes certain the donor has read and understood the brochure, is free of symptoms and is in good health. This confidential interview provides an additional opportunity for a prospective donor with questions about his/her suitability to be deferred confidentially.

3. Any prospective donor is deferred from donating if he/she has been exposed to AIDS or AIDS Related Complex (ARC), or is experiencing symptoms which may be compatible with AIDS or ARC or has been diagnosed as having either. Symptoms include:

- Extreme fatigue not explained by physical activity or mental depression.
- Rapid unexplained weight loss.
- Persistent fever or night sweats.
- White spots or unusual blemishes in the mouth.
- Persistent dry cough, apparently not from smoking.
- Unexplained, persistent diarrhea.
- Blisters or bumps on or under the skin.

Anyone with the above symptoms and stamp collecting, games, etc. After several years of doing this we feel we need some new ideas. We are looking for people who would be interested in doing a fun activity with small group of children. One Friday, or more, would produce variety and add to the success of our programs. In the past we have had volunteers lead an activity in baseball card trading, a simple sewing project and guests to lead a stamp club meeting. If you have an idea and are interested in sharing your time and talent with us please get in touch at 674-2332.

MIKE PIAWLOCK, of Bird Hill Road, Woodstock, bagged his moose near Greenville, the first day of the six-day season last week. Mike's partner was his daughter, Sandy, and their moose weighed in at 910 pounds and measured 57 inches across its antlers. The other local hunters known to have gotten their moose are Dave Roberts, of Bethel, whose moose was said to have weighed 710 pounds woods-dressed; Jim Knights, of Woodstock; Rodney Hanscom, of Bethel; Jeff Hutchins, of Northwest Bethel, Ken Swan, of Bryant Pond; and Dick Carter, of Bethel.

ARTISTS-IN-RESIDENCE SERIES STARTS AT WOODSTOCK SCHOOL

The Woodstock Elementary School's innovative grant "A Ripple in the Pond" began last week. Duncan Slade, a local artist was the first of five artists-in-residence to visit the school this year.

Each artist will spend a week at the school working with the children in specific areas. Art, dance, theater, music and writing will be focused on during the year. In addition to working with the individual classrooms, each artist will be featured in an evening presentation for members of the community.

Duncan Slade, proprietor of "The Art Place" on Market Square in South Paris brought an interesting background with him to Woodstock. He received his master's degree in art education from Southern Connecticut State College after working for 25 years as a product design supervisor for Uniroyal Inc. He then went on to teach art for nine years at the Oxford Hills Junior High School, where he was nominated for "Teacher of the Year" in 1981. In 1983, Mr. Slade resigned from teaching to attend a full-time graduate degree program at Lesley College in expressive art therapies.

He returned to South Paris and opened "The Art Place" on Market Square, a center for classes and workshops in drawing, painting and pottery for all ages.

Mr. Slade has concentrated on painting and drawing with increasing productivity since a favorable review in the Maine Times three years ago, following a one man show in Cape Elizabeth. His work has been exhibited in several group shows and is a part of several group selections. In 1980 he was awarded "Best in Show" by the Western Maine Art Group.

Twenty of his paintings are currently being exhibited in a one man show at Hupper Gallery at Hebron Academy.

"A Ripple in the Pond" strives to expose the children of the Woodstock Elementary School to the fine arts. The grant is being coordinated by Lorraine Cyr, grade six teacher, Martha Tripp, grade three teacher and David Murphy, principal.

STATE MUSEUM FEATURES WATER-POWERED MILL

Stanley and Lenwood Andrews of Woodstock were among the 200 guests attending a reception and dinner on Thursday evening, Oct. 17, celebrating the opening of the exhibition, "Made in Maine," at the Maine State Museum in Augusta.

A water-powered mill depicting the 1800s, has been erected in the basement of the Maine State Museum building with a water turbine from Warren, Maine, turning pulleys that move leather belts, activating machines given the museum from the I.W. Andrews and Son casket mill at South Woodstock.

The mill at the museum is enclosed by large glass windows and the third floor is primarily made up of machines from the 1824-1885 Andrews mill. Included in this list are: wooden lathe, matcher with wood fences, stripping saw, cutting-off saw, double-head shaper with jack shaft, bandsaw, mechanical sharpener for planer and jointer knives and one of the old work benches. The old grindstone wheel found a place in the Blacksmith Shop at the museum.

Many of the above-named machines are pictured in the October issue of Down East magazine along with an article written by James P. Brown about the museum. (Mr. and Mrs. Brown visited the Andrews Mill in South Woodstock on Saturday, Oct. 12, where several remaining machines of the 1800s are still operated by the Chase Water Wheel. The water wheel drives a wooden cog gear, connected to leather belts, wooden and metal pulleys and the several machines. The Browns were guests of Lenwood Andrews for the supper, entertainment and old fashioned benefit dance held at the East Sumner Grange Hall that Saturday evening. Stanley and Lenwood Andrews were a part of the music and entertainment.)

Other gifts by the Andrews family to the museum were: violin, made by John Pentilla of Greenwood and played by the late "Al" Andrews, a bamboo fishing rod made in 1900 by James B. Daniels of Auburn, Maine and used by Prof. John F. Moody, Sr.

On Saturday, Oct. 19, Lenwood Andrews, Albert Jackson, Irwin and Howard Ellingwood and William Edmunds, attended a Special Preview of the Exhibition, "Made in Maine," as guests of the Maine State Museum Commission.

FREE CARBON-MONOXIDE POISON CHECK THURSDAY

The Medicine Shoppe pharmacy, at Alpine and Paris streets in Norway, will hold a free carbon-monoxide poison check next Thursday, Nov. 7, from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. The free test provides persons information on the level of carbon-monoxide in their blood stream.

Pharmacist Larry Ketter notes, "Prolonged exposure to levels of 20 parts per million (ppm) of carbon-monoxide, or more, is considered dangerous. Normal off-highway air contains two to three ppm," he said, "and cigarette smokers may have levels as high as 40 ppm."

THE NEW BETHEL AMBULANCE GARAGE, on Cross Street, was formally opened for operation at an open house last Sunday. The B.E.A.R.S. has already moved most of its equipment to the new facility and has moved the town's two ambulances from their former habitat at the school bus garage. The town manager is still receiving bills for the construction and won't have a final price tag for the garage for another month. Town meeting had allocated $72,000 for the construction.

Tri-Town Rescue

The Advanced First Aid class is preparing for its course final Wednesday night (tonight) and its state test Nov. 14. Many of Tri-Town's drivers are taking the course to become attendants. Tri-Town wished all the class members good luck. The auxiliary will meet Monday night, Nov. 3, at the Community Room of the Bethel Savings Bank in West Paris. New members are always welcome. They will be discussing the Thanksgiving basket and planning a Christmas party in December.

The Thanksgiving basket fund-raiser is going well. It will be given away Nov. 28 at Penley's Corporation in West Paris.

Tri-Town Search and Rescue is planning to conduct a night hasty search practice Nov. 3. Flashlights are important. New members are always welcome.

Safety Tip of the Week

The great children's holiday is upon us—Halloween. As motorists, use extra caution from Thursday through the weekend. Young goblins are apt to be about most any time.

Most probable time for poor visibility is dusk on Halloween. Many children will have lightsticks or flashlights, but some, especially in dark costumes, may not be very visible. Drivers, keep an extra eye out for them.

The time has just changed—to Eastern Standard Time—which brings darkness sooner in the evening. Remember to turn on headlights one half hour before sunset to increase the visibility by other motorists.

FAMILY FORUM ON ALCOHOL ABUSE

Every person who is addicted to alcohol or other drugs touches the lives of at least three other people. Addiction in our family or friends will cause us to adjust to them in a variety of ways. Our adjustments may work well in coping with the addicted person. Much to our dismay, our ways of adjusting to the alcoholic may not help him or her get well.

Often our ways of adjusting and coping interfere in how we deal with other people. Unfortunately for children, spouses, or parents of alcoholics, our ways of coping become automatic. It is difficult to learn new ways to solve problems, communicate with others, and form lasting relationships.

A Family Forum will be offered for family members and concerned friends of alcohol or drug addicted persons. The Forum is a four session course to educate about the addictive process. Participants will begin to learn new ways to cope with the illness that are more satisfying for themselves and more helpful to the alcoholic.

The Forum will be held in November at the Bethel Area Health Center. It will be held in the evening for 1 1/2-2 hours, depending on the number of participants. Becky Hardy will facilitate the Forum. If you are interested and would like more information, please call Becky at the Health Center on Monday or Tuesday. The number at the center is 824-2193. A message may be left for her to return your call during the other days of the week. You may also meet with Becky each Monday from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m. at Drop-In at the Health Center.

Notes from Woodstock Historical Society

On taste—

"Public taste in America has traveled a path of windings and turnings, of peaks of frivolity and abysses of dinginess. It has crossed through fairylands filled with imitation castles, decorated with silks and velvets, and through dismal towns all painted brown. It has produced buildings of stark beauty and crude bombast. It has followed the enticements of faddists and has been led by the serious preachments of missionaries for art. But it has never been without honest striving, or without vitality or individuality, and it has never been allowed to escape for long from the checkrein of humor. Through the story of our taste has run a constant theme—if America is to be great, America must have culture."

—Russell Lynes

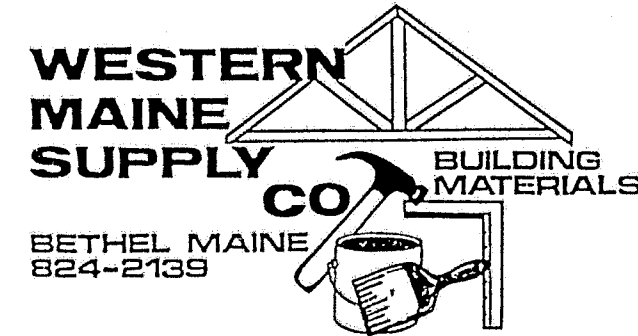

In many ways, today's historical societies have helped to refine public taste by exposing people to the best of the past.

Lori Bean, Linda and Seth Hakala, Muriel Richard and Pete Andrews, all of West Paris; and the host and hostess, Lonnie and Mary Ellen Hadley, of West Paris.

Old Jack Frost has been around since last I wrote. Russell's dahlias don't look very pretty now, with their blackened stems and the blossoms brown and done for this year. We still have some cauliflower plants that are alright as he covers them each night with a tarpaulin. This has kept them growing so we have been able to freeze some and hope the rest will continue to grow so we can get the use of them. The little mouse, who thought he could outsmart Russell, found that he couldn't and got caught in a trap. He managed to ruin one head of cauliflower but that was all. These are the ones with the purple heads and have been extra good. I am glad he planted them and took a chance that they would mature. It paid off and covering them each night has done the same.

The white birches across the road are showing quite plainly against the blue sky this afternoon as I sit here typing and not many leaves left on them. Too many other trees are in the same condition. It sure has felt cool and to me, cold, lately. I hate to think of what is coming later on but no way to stop nature so we have to take whatever comes our way. We'll hope for a good winter when it does arrive and not a real cold one, either. I have enjoyed the foliage so much that I hate to see it go and that is the way each year. The colors of nature are one of the things I love and whether it be greens of summer or the colors of fall, I enjoy it. The winters are pretty, too, in their own way and I loved to see them come when a child, but age makes it seem less interesting to me. Guess it spoiled me to go south for the four years that I was able to go to Florida and work right by the ocean. It seemed great to go swimming in the winter and in such warm water, too. Don't expect it will ever happen again, but I have my memories to keep and they are good ones.

Got a call on Thursday night from Barb and Bryce that they were home. Not a nice to come home to a burned home, but at least they are home in Bethel and can do what has to be done since the loss of their house. Oh, many things can be salvaged but it will cost a fortune and a lot of their things they liked best will be gone. No one would know there had been a fire just to ride by the house but the far end of it burned badly and the smoke and water damage was so great. That is one of the bad things about a fire that is contained in the home like that one was. Everything is black and stinks and so many of their lovely things ruined. When we were there on Sunday, Barb pulled out a lovely bedspread her mother had crocheted for her and she will never be able to get the blackness out of it so it is a keepsake that can't ever be used. It represents hours and hours of work as well I know, doing the crocheting I do. Not only that, but to think her mother thought enough of them to make it, that is the greatest loss when it comes to something like that. One thing can be said, though, no one was there to get burned in the fire. Dear old storm "Gloria" was to blame for the fire as far as they can tell. That was a storm that left loss for lots of folks in one way or another and hope we don't see another for years and years; never, would be soon enough for me.

Wynona and girls came up on Sunday morning and Peggy, Russell and I, along with Nonie and the girls, went to East Andover to see Laura and had lunch there. I had taken a casserole with me, not knowing where we might be at lunch time, also had taken some sandwich makings, cookies and cake as well as punch, so we didn't be to bother to anyone. I told Laura it was the easiest time she had getting lunch for company and she agreed with me. Said that was the kind of company to have come. We then went to Bethel and visited Barb and Bryce and then home where I got supper before Nonie and girls left to go back to Lewiston. It was a beautiful but windy day but we all enjoyed the trip. Got the old walker that all us children used, when little, and Russell is going to see if he can fix it for Kariann to use. She is five months old and wants to use her feet. He has started to get some pieces cut for it but has not had the chance to get it fixed as yet. I'm sure he will as soon as he can. It may be old fashioned, but those were the days when things were made to last and this walker has sure seen a lot of children use it, so why not one more?

Went to Franklin Grange to the Halloween time on Monday night and Russell ended up having to be one of the judges of the costumes. It was a nice meeting and we all enjoyed it very much. The surprise anniversary party for Carl and Lettie Brooks, after the rest of the program, was a surprise to them but a good one. They are always there to lend a helping hand and do so much for the grange, I, for one, was glad to see everyone turn out and give them a good time with lots of cards and a lovely cake.

Speaking of grange meetings, West Paris will hold their next meeting on Nov. 7 and will have a patriotic meeting, the lecturer said she didn't know at this date just what it would be but I am sure it will be a good program for all to come

Mrs. Elizabeth Knights, Bryant Pond, called on the Joe Vatchers Monday afternoon. Her husband James was moose hunting and he and his partner brought home a small moose.

Tammy and Brenda Estes each shot a moose but had no report on Denise Poland and Stanton and Sayward Lamb.

Earl Cordwell is at home and Joe Vatcher has fixed the batteries for the motorized wheel chair so he is happy to be up some each day.

Callers at Lawrences: Odell Heath, Steve Millett, Arnold Coffin, Richard and enjoy. Their last program in October was a Halloween program and from what I heard, they had an enjoyable time, then.

It is hard work to be lecturer of grange and come up with good programs all the time, but most of the lecturers are good at doing this and most programs at any of the granges are worth coming to see.

The way cars are going by, I would say it must be the time of day when all are getting out of work and going home to enjoy the quiet of home and a good supper or whatever else they might have planned, so guess it is time to get busy and see what I can do. Take care and enjoy what good weather we have. The cold snaps will soon be here and we may not like them as well.

Felt, Elizabeth Knights, Pinhook City, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vatcher.

Can we really hope that "Bill" Dunlop may be found safe? It's been a long time. Robert Anderson Sr., Burlington, Mass., spent a few hours Friday with Joe and Eveline Vatcher and he picked yellow and red delicious apples to take home.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleon Pinkham returned to their homes in Phoenix, Ariz., Monday, but they hated to leave the good Maine water. In Phoenix they have to buy all their drinking water but it isn't like our water.

Surprise 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Millett, Greenwood City, were tendered a surprise anniversary party at the Norway legion hall on Oct. 19, given by their children and granddaughter, Amanda Jean Heath, friends and relatives.

The beautiful anniversary cake was made by Bethany Bean, and was cut and served by her mother, Ruby Coffin. A delicious buffet lunch was served, and Doris Lawrence and Ruby Coffin, assisted by the Millett girls.

They were presented gifts and a money tree. They were wed Oct. 15, 1960, by Robert Sallies of Norway and have lived at Greenwood all their married life. Norman is a logger and Jean is an R.N., and works at Stephens Memorial Hospital. There was dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mills and Vivian Chase were in Mexico Sunday morning where they attended services at the Praise Assembly of God. They then traveled on to Dryden to have dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Jon Smith returning to the evening services at the Assembly.

Vera Cross and Charlotte Cole visited Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Dingley Friday evening for an evening of supper and cards.

Harry Swan Jr. and some other members of the SAD #44 board of directors went to Augusta Thursday morning where they attended a convention of the Maine School Boards Association. They stayed at a Holiday Inn and returned home on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald West and son, Peter, and friend from New Jersey, are getting their camp on Twitchell Pond ready for winter this week.

Congratulations to Charlie Melville, who as president of the Ledgeview Residents Council, accepted a plaque from the American Heart Association for the contribution the residents at Ledgeview made to the association over past seven years. Charlie is quoted as saying, "I've rocked miles for the association." Good for you, Charlie!

Members of the Greenwood Fire Department cleaned chimneys the past two weekends. It took courage to go up on the roofs this past Saturday as strong winds came through the region.

The winds also managed to strip most of the leaves off that were left on the trees. Considering the weather the foliage this year was very pretty and long-lasting.

Mrs. Margery Swan has visited her father, Herbert Rowe, a couple of times this past week at the Market Square Health Facility, South Paris.

Greenwood Fire Department will meet at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 5, for a regular meeting.

Greenwood Historical Society will meet at 3 p.m. at their Main Street Society building on Wednesday, Nov. 6.

There will be a Halloween party for the Youth Group Friday for the SAD #44 board of directors at the Town Hall. Each person can bring a friend.

The Locke Mills Union is planning a Christmas cantata to hear the music tapes last night at the home of Beverly

Mrs. John Mills and Vivian in Mexico Sunday morning attended services at the assembly of God. They then went to Dryden to have dinner and Mrs. Smith returned.

Mrs. Elmer Dingley Friday or an evening of supper and Swan Jr. and some other of the SAD #44 board of directors on August Thursday morning attended a convention of the Pool Boards Association. They had dinner and returned Friday.

Mrs. Donald West and son, friend from New Jersey, are on camp on Twitchell Pond winter this week.

Carl and Carrie Holt of Berlin, N.H., stopped into her nephew's and family, Dick Angevine, and saw the new baby.

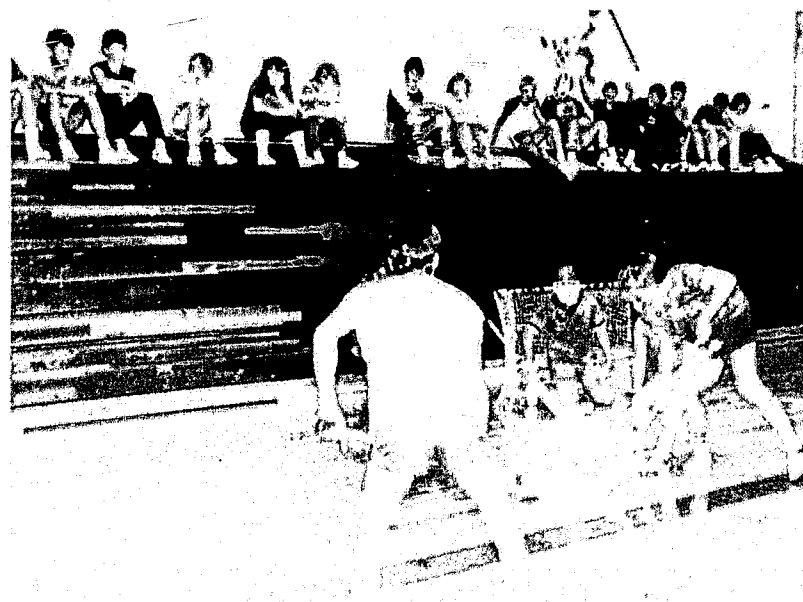

Bob and Ginny Keniston hosted a combined birthday party at their home the 21st. This was in honor of Bob's Mother, Eva Keniston, who was 91 on the 21st, and their son, David, whose birthday is also on the 21st, and their grandchild and David's daughter, Heather, born the 24th. Others attending were Elsie Davis, Jodie Keniston, Heath Keniston, Becky, Jon and Jen, and Dr. Leonard Shaw. They had dinner and cake, and ice cream.

Polly Mills of Rumford has been helping Myrtle Lapham while her regular helper is on vacation.

Bob, Linda, Seth and Jon Howe recently returned from a vacation at Nahmakanta Lakes located near Millinocket, at the Nevels' hunting and fishing lodge. For wildlife they saw loons, ducks, partridges, black bear, and moose. Bob was able to get in some bird hunting. They came through Greenville to see Moosehead Lake.

Thelma Merrill became a great-grandmother again, and Joe and Gerry Shimamura grandparents on the 23rd when Billy and Dawn Shimamura became the parents of a 9 lb. plus baby girl—not named when I talked to Gerry. Gerry is taking care of their other daughter, Shandy, while mother is in the hospital.

Also got word that my brother and wife, Dan and Shirli Allen, were the parents of a baby boy born on the same day. After going to see the folks on the 22nd, I had gone over to Shirli's nursery school the day before and had a visit with her. She was taking care of eight preschoolers.

The 16th Evelyn Hilborn went as guests of Winona Clark of Norway to lunch in South Paris.

Today is another rainy day and suppose soon the rain will be snow as we have had below freezing weather several mornings lately. Next Thursday will be Halloween but I don't think so many people take their children out "trick or treating" now with all the food that has been tampered with. Saturday Frankie and Theresa came with a big pumpkin (of course we had to save the seeds) but Frankie had to make the face. Sunday, George went to Gorham, N.H., and climbed the Imp Trail. He said there were a lot of others on the trail.

Dan, Sally Hannon and two girls went to Vermont over the weekend to visit friends over the weekend.

Larry Smith came Saturday to his folks Mr. and Mrs. Homer Smith. From there the three picked up Jim Young and all went to the Vietnam Veterans Memorial dedication in Augusta.

The 11th Evelyn Hilborn went with Frances Farnum and Bertha Flanders shopping in Gorham and lunch in Berlin.

Frank and Evelyn Aylward went down to their daughter Alicia's and husband John Marcinczyk's in Sabattus on Wednesday and came back Saturday.

Pray for the world
That men may walk
With thoughts of peace.
Pray for the world
That children may live
With food to eat.
Pray that men will see
That the earth is theirs
And their brothers too.
Pray for the world!
Pray! Pray!

The 1st day of October and I have just returned from a walk. It had been a long time since I had walked the Bulldozer Road to the fields. Everywhere along this road the wilderness seems near at hand. But after climbing the hill and crossing to the woodland brook I always feel remote from the world. This brook traces its serpentine course among mosses, ferns, rocks, and trees. If I remain silent and motionless I hope to see a deer, fox, or some other animal. But if they don't appear there usually are the two musical sounds—the liquid rushing of water and the sighing of the wind. If it's a strong wind there is a shrill complaint of the trees. Today the most characteristic living voice was the chipping of the chipmunks. How busy they were carrying nuts, seeds, or whatever in their "mumps swollen" cheeks.

A flock of crows winged over, causing rancorously.

And what was the sun doing to the sky, turning it everywhere a transcendental blue, as only October can bring.

I was surrounded, closed in, embraced, and towered over, by pines, oaks, and maples. But even so, the sun dappled into the woods, cast shadows, and caused glinting on the still colored leaves.

Two red squirrels came cavorting in pursuit of each other around a tree, rising beyond my feet. I stayed very still. I felt that I was the interloper, and, must blend into their world, and they would delight me with theirs. Suddenly they darted up the trunk, began leaping onto high branches of neighboring trees and disappeared into the deeper forest.

I followed a stone wall some distance on my way toward home. I reflected on the back-breaking toil, the tremendous energy that went into the building of them long ago. Farmer helped farmer for there was always a plentiful supply of stones littering the fields. Green and gray lichens decorate the stones now.

Of course I had to stand, then sit to view my mountains. The leaves had passed their peak of brilliance and many had fallen from the tree but those hills were there and still magnificent.

As I sit here writing I keep admiring my two bouquets of lovely flowers given to me on my 57th wedding anniversary last Saturday. One was from my neighbor Denise Adams and children and the other from Leonas, Fay, and Ann. The vase holding the latter sported a big bull moose. That reminds me that this is "moose week" and that three came to the cove on Saturday.

We had another caller, too, and much more beautiful—a male cardinal at the feeder. He stayed two days, maybe just to wish us a happy anniversary and it was except for the dear friend who was with us the day we were married and all the years since but left us last April. Thanks for the many cards but there was one which made a very unusual appearance. I took a book from the book case, and from it fell a beautiful card which said, "congratulations on your wedding anniversary." The signature was a neighbor's who has been gone for many years. Now wasn't that a coincidence!

KICKING IT DOWNFIELD, Gould's Heather Tobin boots the ball towards the Kents Hill side of the field in last Saturday's game, which Gould won, 4-0. The girls finish their season next Wednesday, at home, versus Hyde School. The boys soccer team went to the playoffs seeded 5th in Class C. They were eliminated in the first round at Georges Valley, 2-0, last Saturday.

Frank and Dorothy Curtis have had several callers: Phil and Dot Bentley, Lewiston; Bob and Judy Leeper and two children, Syracuse, N.Y.; Ralph and Regina Porter, Westport, Maine; Waldo and Audrey Porter, Westport, Maine; Mildred Bowman, Hebron; Irene Stevens, Eva Felton, Kathy Curtis, Local; Alton Kimball, Waterford.

At the Hayes Homestead on Sunday had many of her family come, Doris to have dinner with her: Mr. and Mrs. Duane Hayes and children, West Paris; Glenn Hayes, Gray; Mr. and Mrs. Ardell Hayes, Auburn; Mr. and Mrs. Scot Hayes and baby, West Paris.

David, Sally and Mary Holt were at the farm on Sunday.

Ann and Fay Holt were in Portland on Saturday.

Our callers were Denise Adams, Joshua and Jessica, Local; Blaine Mills, Locke Mills.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Curtis Sr., Farmington; Colista Cogswell, daughter Karen, and grandson, Freeport; Walter Curtis Jr., Norway, visited Mr. and Mrs. Fred Curtis on the week end.

Good morning once again from Albany! My kitchen smells so good this morning as I have just made eight pints of pickled onions.

Franklin and Roger Barton spent last weekend in Milo at Roger's camp. Jim Barton went to Andover bird hunting. Brett Barton went to Massachusetts with college friends to attend the Patriots game. Margaret Barton visited friends in Baldwin and North Conway. Wednesday evening Franklin and Margaret Barton visited Bernard and Alice Graffum in Denmark.

Recent callers at the Barton farm have been Bernard and Alice Graffum, Kevin Conley, Fran Parsons and Justin and Jason, and Elsie Bouchard.

Recent visitors at the Hugh Stearns' home have been Beverly Light, Asenale Hall, Edwin and Ava Bumpus, Terri Howard and children, Mike and June Inman and children, Nick Inman, Hulda

Stevens, Barb Inman, Tottie Waterhouse, Alton Rich, and Joe and Christine Hatstat.

Flo and Myron MacIntire and Dale Scribner have been recent guests at the home of Fred and Lib Scribner.

Eva B. Twitchell, Christine Cole and I went to Ocean Park to close the cottage last Saturday.

Recent callers have been Chris and Mark Barton, Melissa Palmer, Russ and Darlene Nutting, Mike and June and Inman and children, Margaret Barton, Jeff Barton, and Kevin Conley.

There will be a meeting on Sunday afternoon Nov. 3, at 2 p.m. at the town house to hear from your representatives after they attend the County Commissioners meeting on Oct. 29. Other business will be taken care of also. Your representatives are Kathy Bennett, Barb Inman, and Dave Salway.

Have a good week everyone. Have a safe and happy Halloween.

AN ALL-MOTORCYCLE FLEA MARKET was held at Kent and Brenda Taylor's Slab City Motor Co., off the Northwest Bethel road, two weekends ago. Bikers from all over New England attended, some camping overnight in the campground across Rte. 2.

Gilead

By LOUISE LORING

Beware—outside the wind moans and the buildings creak—a brush of a feathered wing thuds softly against the window pane. The moon rides high amongst the clouds billowing black, and what strange apparitions filter in and out of the depths of them! Here on earth, as we stand in the orange glow of many masked creatures, a wariness overtakes us, and icy fingers creep up our spines, as the magic of a "Hallowed" Eve, engulfs us. Spirits so tiny run toward the community hall, and once in a while, bemused hysterical laughter peals out to us from within, echoing throughout the valley. The air is pungent with the smell of dried leaves, spices, and the nectars of cider, dances wickedly in the goblets—awaiting to be risen to pallid, purple lips and gulped heartily. Who is that lady in the corner, with a mantle of black, moving slowly about, as does a dark widow spider? Who lies upon the bed, silent and ashen back stage at the community center? And how does your future look to the gypsy woman who stares placidly into her crystal ball. Bones will rattle, moons abound—as all these questions and many more will be answered at the Gilead Women's Club party for the Gilead children, Thursday evening, Oct. 31, from 5:30 to 7. Come one, come all. Join us for the spookiest evening, ever.

Kathy Cole and I have joined and are now attending TOPS at Locke Mills. It sure seems fine to be with a group of ladies who are sincere in a weight loss program, and who "care" about another's plight. They sure show it there, with ladies neater and trimmer than a year ago—and these ladies never lose their spark, nor cease to encourage others. God bless!

My mother, Elsie Bryant, my daughter, Nancy Cross and granddaughter, Kelsey, of Bryant Pond, paid me a surprise visit on my birthday last week. Nancy was as excited as she could be in presenting me with a pair of blue jeans (Grampa got some on Father's Day) as I was to receive them. Nancy thought I'd never worn jeans, but then she doesn't remember her mother when she didn't look like the Incredible BULK. Many, many years ago Nancy, when you were in swaddling clothes, it was a different story—and with help from God and the fine ladies at TOPS hope to let you see me once in your lifetime as I was!

Lana Sweetser held a housewares party at her home on Wednesday evening last with Lillian Brooks as demonstrator. Very nice party Lana. A sociable fun evening had by all.

The store has been re-opened—it is under new management now and is being leased and run by Jesse and Mary Peters of Berlin, N.H. There will be no more gas pumps—but just a small store and diner. Good luck to our new business people. However, Leo still has cabins to rent.

Anita Ferrand was an out-patient at Stephens Memorial Hospital, where she had a growth removed surgically from her finger, one day last week.

Louise Tetley was hostess at a party at her home Oct. 21 honoring Gilberte Seeley's 78th birthday, which was Oct. 21. Ten guests attended. Six, who were invited were unable to attend. "Gil" received many lovely gifts and a gift certificate. The birthday cake was made and decorated by Karlene Bachelder. Cake and ice cream were served.

Nancy Wight, Eleanor Morton, Betsy Clark, Louise Tetley, Beatrice Lowell, Gilbert Seeley, June Swan, Rena Powers, and Thelma Lowery were in Rumford bowling Oct. 23. Thelma Lowery and Louise Tetley tied for high score.

The Mothers Club had their first weight control class at the Town Office

Northland one day last week.

My Cardinal always shows up towards the last of October and sure enough on the 19th at 1:30—looking out the picture window in the den at the feeder there—there she was in all her glory. She looks even redder this year. The one year we never saw her was full of bad luck, so I predict for the Loring household a season ahead of joy—as our special feathered friends came through again.

Kathy Cole and mother, Nancy, and grandmother, Rachel, hosted a birthday lunch for me at Kathy's home last week. A huge julienne salad was delicious and filling. Thanks, loyal friends.

Until next week, peace and love your neighbors.

Tuesday, Oct. 22, with Cindy Moxcey, leader. Members weighed themselves and diets were discussed. The second meeting was held Oct. 29 at the municipal building.

Barbara Toti and Marion D'Nuccio, Pascoag, R.I., visited Gilberte Seeley a few days recently.

Polls will be open at the Newry municipal building from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Nov. 5 for voting in the special election. Persons not registered may register with June Swan, Registrar of Voters, at the town office Tuesday from 12 noon to 8 p.m., Thursday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. or at the polls election day.

Newry residents are reminded that the Foot Care Clinic at the Bethel House Friday mornings is not limited to Bethel House tenants. It is for everyone. Muriel Whitney, R.N., offers nursing care for feet, such as soaking, massaging, cleansing, clipping nails, etc. For appointment call the Bethel Area Health Center.

The subject of Pastor Hanscom's message Sunday morning was "Be Constant, Be Happy" with Scripture readings from Proverbs 3:10-20 and St. Mark 10:17-22. Refreshments were served after the service with Louise Tetley and Freda Robertson as hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Jones, Bennington, Vt., were guests of her father, Roy Bennett, last week.

Roger and I attended the hockey put on by the Telstar girls' field hockey team Tuesday p.m.

It was pleasant being remembered.

The following group entertained the people at the Victorian Villa Nursing and Boarding Home in Canton on Sunday, Oct. 20: Richard Felt and Dot Canwell; The "Four Fathers" Barber Shop Quartet, consisting of Stan Andrews, Art Gouin, Ken Goddard and Dave Tilley. Some of the Old Parisians and other musicians, which included "Pete" Andrews, bass viol; "Zeke" Trask, piano; Lloyd Libby, guitar; Ivan Proctor, saxophone; Roland Bennett, trumpet.

Suzanne and Norman Hill, Bow, N.H.; Hilda Andrews, Concord, N.H.; Rebecca and Ian Waters, Sebago Lake, were guests of Lenwood Andrews during Alumni Weekend at Gould Academy recently.

David Hill, son of Norman and Suzanne Hill of Bow, N.H., is a member of the theatrical group, "Up With People," which will be singing in front of the TV cameras and a live audience of 100,000 at the Super Bowl in January of 1986. David is the grandson of Lenwood Andrews and the late Hazel Woods Andrews of South Woodstock. His great-grandfather, Walter C. Woods, was a tap dancer in the Skinner and Woods dancing duo that traveled the Keith (Vaudeville) Circuit in the early 1900s.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Verrill and Olive Davis attended the funeral of Herman Barnett at the Universalist Church at South Paris Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Esther Davis and guest, Edith Hodges, were in Livermore where they called on Mr. and Mrs. Donald Brown and other members of Esther's family.

Mary Billings called on me Saturday afternoon.

Fall weather seemed to have set in on Sunday. I had two fires going all day to prove it. I hope they keep the snow out in the west for a long time.

Esther Davis entertained at a dinner Tuesday night when Ethel and Erland Twitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Hathaway, Jerry Shores, Patricia Tibbets and two children, Neil and Jackie, and a friend Tim Kennagh, also, Olive Davis, converged on her trailer. Edith Hodges, a friend from Florida, was also a dinner guest as she is visiting Esther.

Laura Heikkinen and Barbara Cash visited in the evening. They were from South Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Foss of Gray were callers Thursday afternoon of Mr. Elmira Doyen.

Mrs. Dottie Adams of Hanover was a caller here Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Edroy Curtis of Mechanic Falls were Saturday morning visitors here.

On Halloween week the Awana Clubs that meet at 6 p.m. met on Monday instead of on Thursday.

Franklin Grange met on Monday, Oct. 21 for a regular meeting with a Halloween party and anniversary party following. Lucy Robbins, Bob and Mary Billings and Paul Billings were welcomed as new members. Program was as follows: song, Halloween, by all; reading on Halloween by Lettie Brooks; parade of the spooks in costume. Jean Vancour and Dot Canwell sang "The Old Rugged Cross"; riddles by Olive Davis; winning for costumes were Elvira Flaherty and Chester Connell, West Paris, and Alice Hoyt; two games were played; quotes by Larry Billings. Lettie Brooks and Carl were escorted in and presented with corsages for their 40th wedding anniversary. A poem was read by Olive Davis and Lyndell Farr wrote a poem that was read by Audrey Hadley. Fifty-two people were present. Poem by Bertha Benoit. Mr. and Mrs. Brooks were presented with gifts. A very pretty anniversary cake was made by Dot Canwell and presented to the couple. The next meeting will be Nov. 4 when Mary Lyon and a group from the American Legion will present a program on the American flag. The public is invited to attend this open meeting at 7:30 p.m.

Fifteen members of Judith Grover Tent #17 attended the inspection at East Stoneham on Wednesday, Oct. 23. A delicious supper was held before the meeting. Plans are being made for a joint installation in January. The Department Inspector, Edith Pulkkinen, and Department President, Edith Rolfe, spoke, also the Department Commander, Otis Evans. There were 47 present. There were six or seven Past Department Presidents present.

David, JoAnn and Ray Crockett were supper guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Hoyt on Thursday to celebrate JoAnn's birthday.

Elizabeth Hoyt was home last weekend and on Sunday evening she was the missionary speaker at the South Paris Baptist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. John Chase and Crystal, Althea Stevens, Keith, Jenny and Danny, were Sunday evening callers on their mother and grandmother, Mrs. Beatrice Farnum.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Glines, Jonathan and Jolyn, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Linwood Ring. Donna Reed and son, New Mexico, were overnight guests of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Linwood Ring on Wednesday.

Bethel Emergency Ambulance and Rescue Service

A belated but sincere thank-you to everyone who helped out at the accident on Blake Hill a few weeks ago.

Further expressions of gratitude go to SAD #44 for allowing us to use their facilities for so long. Special thanks to the maintenance garage crew for putting up with us and for pitching in whenever you could. We'll miss you guys, but we're delighted to have our own space.

Thanks and double thanks to the townspeople who donated to our worthy cause, who supported our need for a new "home" and/or who showed up at our open house on Sunday. Isn't it a beautiful Bethel Ambulance Service Garage?

Last, but not least (by a long, long shot) thanks to Wendy Marcolini and Al Sumner for volunteer service above and beyond the call of spouse-hood. You certainly made moving Friday and Saturday, easier.

If anyone has any questions or comments about the column, we'd like to hear them. It sure would be nice to know that it's read by more than members and their families.

Health Tip

Bursitis—inflammation of a small, fluid-filled sac that aids in joint movement—usually resulting from excessive use of a joint, chilling or draft. Severe pain and limitation of movement. Do not attempt to treat at home—seek medical assistance.

Osteoporosis—porousness and brittleness of bones, most commonly seen in women after menopause. Back pain, rounding of shoulders, height loss, proneness to fractures. Can only be diagnosed by a doctor, possible connection to calcium deficiency.

Peritonitis—inflammation of membrane lining abdominal cavity and abdominal organs caused by germs escaping from a perforated ulcer, burst appendix, rupture gall bladder, perforated bladder or ruptured spleen. Produces severe, constant pain in the abdomen, fever, nausea, chills, vomiting. This is a serious condition that requires immediate medical attention.

Newry town office

The Newry selectmen met Tuesday morning at the town office. Roland Mareau, from the state Bureau of Taxation, called to check on veterans' tax exemption applications.

Chris Kenney, from Sunday River Ski Resort, came to discuss liquor license applications. Licenses, either new or renewals, are desired for South Ridge Base Lodge and Barker Mountain Base Lodge, with extensions for Fall Line and Merrill Brook restaurants. A private hearing will be held on some of these applications at the town office Nov. 19, at 10 a.m. A renewal application was approved. Application for a take-out license for The Mountain Grocer convenience store is expected later.

Romeo Baker was present to discuss completing the forming of a Cemetery Association, which was voted on at the annual town meeting in March. Little progress has been made on this during the summer since Mr. Baker, one of the committee members, was away. It is expected that work on this will progress this fall.

Constance Hindman, from the Oxford County Community Services, attended to explain the fuel assistance program. Eligible Newry residents may apply at the Bethel town office Tuesday and Thursday, from 1 to 3:30 p.m., or VOICES, in Bethel, Monday and Wednesday, 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., through November and December—elderly and handicapped persons only, to Nov. 27.

The polls will be open at the municipal building for the special election Nov. 5, from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. The polls will open at 9 a.m., not 10 a.m. as previously reported.

The next selectmen's meeting will be Nov. 5, at 9 a.m. at the town office.

Challenge '85

The thermometer at the Bethel Area Health Center is still on an upward climb. Through the efforts of the fund-raising committee the goal of $98,600 has almost been reached. Businesses, organizations and members of the community have joined together to make the effort an overwhelming success. Donations are still being accepted. The latest list of supporters include: Alanson and Fannie Cummings; Ralph Merrill, Plumbing and Heating; Leona Flint, in memory of Cecil and Beatrice Conrad; John, Susan, Amanda, and Nathan Wright; Goodwin's Inc., Insurance; Arthur and Betty Ann Smith; Gertie F. Bartlett; Mount Abram Ski Slopes; Roberts' Poultry Farm; Frank and Sheila Harrington; Richard and Sara Mayo; Joseph and Susan Harvey; and Guy and Vera Parker.

NATIONAL FOREST TIMBER

FOR SALE
NATIONAL FOREST TIMBER SALE, WHITE MOUNTAIN NATIONAL FOREST, Twayblade Sale, located in U.S. Tract 45, Evans Notch Ranger District, Town of Gilead, Oxford County, Maine. Sealed bids will be received by the District Ranger, U.S. Forest Service, RFD 2, Box 2270, Bridge Street, Bethel, Maine, at 2:00 p.m., local time at the place of bid opening, December 13, 1985 for an estimated 437 MBF of sawtimber and 487 Ccf of pulpwood and millwood designated for cutting.

The estimated volume by species-product is: White Pine Sawlogs, 308 MBF; Red Pine & Other Softwood Sawlogs, 99 MBF; Sugar Maple & Yellow Birch Sawlogs, 7 MBF; Beech & Other Hardwood Sawlogs, 12 MBF; White Ash & Red Oak Sawlogs, 12 MBF; Paper Birch Millwood, 30 CCF; Mixed Softwood Pulpwood, 146 CCF; Mixed Hardwood Pulpwood, 311 CCF.

The right to reject any and all bids is reserved. Full information concerning the timber, including a prospectus, the conditions of sale, and the submission of bids should be obtained from the District Ranger at the above address. 44

MAKING WAY FOR A NEW RUNWAY at Col. Dyke Field, in Bethel, Robert Brown, of Hanover, is busy cutting down trees. The sawlogs are going to L.E. Davis, Co., while other wood is being chipped on site, by Benson and Webster, of Poland, and sold to S.D. Warren Paper Co., in Westbrook. As soon as the promised federal grant is received, survey and design work on the runway will begin, according to the town manager. Construction of the new, longer runway is expected to be done by the National Guard next summer.

Chamber may offer medical insurance plan at reduced group rate

The Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce is actively investigating acquiring Blue Cross/Blue Shield medical insurance for its members who want to join a group plan. Insurance rates would be lower if purchased on this group plan, insurance representatives have assured the chamber.

A meeting is scheduled for Tuesday evening, Nov. 19, at 7:30 p.m. at the Bethel Inn, for all those interested in the plan.

A sales representative from BC/BS will be there to answer questions and provide needed information. All members, and those planning to join the chamber, will be eligible. One doesn't have to own a business to qualify for membership in the chamber and thus be eligible for this group health plan. Likewise, a business itself doesn't have to have the minimum number of employees needed to qualify for a group health plan, because the chamber will be the contracting party.

CARD OF THANKS

To all who have supported Kevin Van Deursen with your prayers, cards, and letters a simple "thank you" seems so inadequate but I'm at a loss for more appropriate words to express my heart-felt appreciation.

Although Kevin is officially still in a coma, he does respond to voices and a few commands and we have no doubt that your prayers and love are going to be instrumental in his complete restoration in His time, not ours. So please keep all your positive energy coming his way. Your inspirational letters are what have kept us going for this past nightmarish month so thank you for your past and continued support. Thank God for friends like you.

FINAL ELDERHOSTEL COURSE FOR FALL SEASON THIS WEEK AT SUNDAY RIVER INN

The final Elderhostel course of the Sunday River Inn fall season is being held this week with participants from states throughout the northeast. Subjects for this session are Sheepraising and Spinning by Sue Laban; Woodworking by Paul Kailey; and Indian Lore by Eric Wight, Junior Poor and others. This winter Sunday River Inn will host five Elderhostel weeks, three featuring cross country skiing, and two featuring downhill skiing in cooperation with the Sunday River Ski Area Ski School. This will be the first time that downhill skiing has been offered as a course at any of the 800 campuses in the worldwide Elderhostel system. The offering is attracting attention from Elderhostel participants and administrators alike.

To learn about joining in the excitement of Elderhostel, see the course catalog at local libraries or write Elderhostel, 80 Boylston St., Suite 400, Boston, Mass. 02116.

MANAGEMENT CLUB TO MEET

The Western Maine Industrial Management Club will meet in Bethel on Monday, Nov. 4, at The Bethel Inn. Social hour will begin at 5:30 p.m., with dinner at 6:30 and the meeting at 7:30.

The guest speaker will be John Shorb, of Boise Cascade. His topic will be Interpersonal Relationships in the Workplace.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank everyone who helped us celebrate our 40th anniversary. Who says Grangers can't keep secrets? It is a great Fraternity. Dot, the cake was beautiful and delicious. The gifts, cards, money, corsages and poems showed your love for us. We really appreciated it. Special thanks to Olive Davis who planned it all.

UMO gets forestry grant

The University of Maine at Orono has received a grant of $182,830 from the U.S. Department of Agriculture for a two-year study of wood decay. "The study could be valuable to the building or utility industries," said Dr. Gregory Brown, dean of the College of Forest Resources.

The grant was one of three received last week from the Department of Agriculture, totaling $460,801.

The second grant, of $131,725, is earmarked for a two-year investigation of genetic control of tree growth and how trees change their patterns as they grow. The study could have implications for the paper industry, the dean said.

A study of birch bark will be funded by a third grant, of $146,246. The goal of the study is to develop new methods of controlling insects, not involving traditional pesticides. Birch bark contains traditional quantities of a compound called betulin, which possibly could be transformed into another compound designed to disrupt insect feeding and growth.

CARD OF THANKS

BURTON L. NEWTON

Burton L. Newton died Friday, Oct. 25, 1985, at his residence on Broad Street, Bethel.

He was born on Wilton, March 18, 1909, the son of Roy and Edna Ford Newton. He attended Farmington Falls schools, was a graduate of Farmington High School, and in 1927 graduated from Farmington Normal School.

He married Ida Card, March 28, 1942. She died in 1967. On Nov. 30, 1967, he married Louise L. Andrews.

Mr. Newton was founder, owner and operator of Newton and Tebbets Inc. of West Bethel and also was owner and operator of Kingfield Wood Products Inc. in Kingfield. At one time Mr. Newton worked as a carpenter for the late H. Alton Bacon of Bryant Pond, and also served as a fire warden for the National Forest Service. He also was former owner of the Bethel Water Company, a member of the Bethel Area Development Corporation, and a member of the National Woodturners Association.

Mr. Newton was active in politics, serving as a Bethel selectman for two years, and on the Budget Committee for 20 years. He had been a candidate for the state legislature. He was an avid sportsman, a registered Maine Guide, and a member of the Biggest Bucks in Maine Club. He was a licensed pilot and enjoyed flying his own plane. Mr. Newton was a former member of the Bethel Lions Club. He was a former proprietor of the Bethel Savings Bank, and at one time was the third largest stockholder of the Casco Northern Bank. He was a 32nd degree Mason and past master of the Jefferson Lodge #100 AF & AM of Bryant Pond. He was an ambassador and jester of the Kora Temple Shrine.

He is survived by his wife of Bethel; two sons, Roy Newton of West Bethel, and Alan Newton of Gilead; two stepdaughters, Lila Thompson of Lewiston, and Colleen Bachelier of Mars Hill; one step-son, Clay Andrews of Daytona Beach, Fla.; 12 grandchildren and several great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon from the Andrews Funeral Home, South Woodstock, with Joseph Perham officiating. Interment was at the Lakeside Cemetery, Bryant Pond.

Serving as bearers were: Raymond Harrington, Charles Keoskie, Edward Wheeler, Stanley Fox, Richard Davis, and Earlon Paine.

MRS. MARTHA D. GARDNER

Mrs. Martha D. Gardner of West Paris of Greenwood Street, West Paris, died Wednesday, Oct. 23, 1985, at the Ledgeview Memorial Home, West Paris, following a long illness.

Born at West Paris, June 10, 1909, she was the daughter of Quincy and Minnie Adams Day. She received her education in West Paris schools and graduated from West Paris High School in the class of 1927. She married George Gardner on June 9, 1928. Mrs. Gardner was a homemaker, but had also worked for a time at the Penley Corporation and for several summers at Camp Waziatiah in Waterford and for Marjorie Guyer in Paris Hill. A life-long member of the West Paris community, she was a former member of the West Paris Grange, and attended the West Paris Baptist Church.

Survivors include her husband of West Paris, and a daughter, Mrs. Sandra Pederson of Ashford, Conn.

Funeral services were held Friday evening at the Andrews Funeral Home, South Woodstock. Interment was at the Wayside Cemetery, West Paris.

ROBERT D. HANSCOM

Robert D. Hanscom of Venice, Fla., died Saturday, Sept. 26, 1985, after a long illness.

He was born in Bethel, Sept. 3, 1901, the son of Frank and Ella Davis Hanscom. His father was principal of Gould Academy from 1897 to 1936, and served as principal emeritus until his death in 1940.

He was a teacher and head of the English department at the Cushing Academy in Ashburnham, Mass. He taught at the Moses Brown School at Providence, R.I., as well as Bentley College in Boston.

Mr. Hanscom graduated from Bowdoin College and received his masters degree in education from Harvard University.

Surviving are his wife, Maude P. Hanscom of Venice, Fla.; two daughters, Mrs. Virginia Hanscom Rugeley of Charleston, W.Va., and Mrs. Robin Hanscom of Grand Rapids, Mich.; three sisters, Mrs. Dorothy Jones, Mrs. Margaret Humphrey of Portland, and Mrs. Kathryn Bailey of Portland; and six grandchildren.

BORN

In Norway, Sept. 27, to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Koskela (Theresa Heber) of South Woodstock, a daughter, Kristina Jeannine.

Oct. 7, to Corey and Patricia Brown, of Rock Springs, Wyo., formerly of Bethel, a son, Christopher Carl.

In Lewiston, Oct. 9, to Michael Hopkins and Linda Hertel of Auburn, a daughter, Jessamyn Marie Hertel-Hopkins.

Oct. 22, to Henry and Kathryn Deegan Lessard of El Cajon, Calif., a son, Daniel William.

5th ANNUAL WINTER SPORTS EQUIPMENT SALE NOV. 1-2

Plans for the Bethel Outing Club's 5th annual sale of winter sports equipment have shifted into high gear!! The highly popular consignment sale has enjoyed a tremendous 500 percent growth rate—to $25,000 last year—and is expected to draw a substantial crowd seeking the many bargains that will be available. To date most of the major shops in Maine and New Hampshire have committed to stocking more than 3,500 pieces of new and used equipment for alpine and cross country winter sports; and includes clothing and accessories. Many individuals will be bringing in their unwanted equipment and clothing to sell at bargain prices as well.

This year's sale will be held Friday, Nov. 1, 6:30 p.m.-9:30 p.m. and Saturday, Nov. 2, 10 a.m.-3 p.m. in the Field House on the Gould Academy campus.

The Bethel Outing Club, a non-profit community service organization, holds the annual sale as a public service and as the club's primary fund raiser. Proceeds from the sale are used to promote and support youth nordic ski development programs, family outings, and other community service projects in the greater Bethel and western Maine region.

As an added attraction, the Gould Academy ski teams will be showing Warren Miller's latest feature length movie, "Steep and Deep," Friday and Saturday evenings for a modest fee. Tickets will be available at the sale.

For added information call 207-824-2714 days or 207-824-3387 evenings.

COUNTY EXTENSION HOLDING HOLIDAY OPEN HOUSE AT TELSTAR NOV. 9

The Oxford County Extension Homemakers will hold their annual Open House on Saturday, Nov. 9, at Telstar Regional High School in Bethel, from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. This year's theme is "Holiday for All Seasons."

Thirteen of the Extension Homemakers groups around the county will have exhibits and sales tables featuring all the holidays throughout the year—from Thanksgiving to Christmas to Easter to July 4th. Select crafts and food items will be demonstrated and sold throughout the day. Additional attractions include the sale of hundreds of handmade Christmas ornaments and a booklet featuring recipes and directions for craft items. Door prizes and food baskets will be awarded. Coffee and doughnuts will be available in the morning. The Rumford Extension group will sponsor a spaghetti luncheon and the Woodstock Group will have sandwiches for sale.

CABLE HAS ARRIVED! And Ruth Grover, of Main Street, Bethel, was the first customer to receive service last week. Bethel Cablevision technician Pete Venne demonstrates how to use the adapter. Cablevision has technicians going around signing up customers. By next summer the system—with its receiving and transmitting facility on Blake Hill in Bethel, will cover the towns of Newry, Greenwood, Woodstock and West Paris, in addition to Bethel.

PLANS SET FOR NOV. 4 CHAMBER SUPPER & PARTY

Bud Sawyer, well known radio personality on station WPOR, will be master of ceremonies for the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce Supper and Party set for Monday, Nov. 4, at the Bethel Lions Club Den on Main Street.

Guest seating will begin at 5:45 p.m. and festivities will get underway at 6 p.m. Two games, providing fun for all ages, will precede the unique table-service supper which will be followed by the awarding of a lengthy list of prizes and an enjoyable segment of family entertainment.

Robin Zinchuk, sales coordinator, advised that all tickets must be purchased in advance and they are available at the Bryant Pond Village Store, Bethel Savings Bank, Casco Bank, Prim's, Locke Mills Marketplace, and from directors Rick Whitney, Mac MacMunn, Wende Gray, Bill Riley, Leon Favreau, and George Stevens. Call 824-2657 or 665-2226 for information.

The chamber invites local residents to enjoy a pleasant evening at this fund raising affair and indicates that proceeds will be used to meet a portion of the expenses connected with area advertising commitments.

ELEANOR GORDON GUILD

The Eleanor Gordon Guild will meet Wednesday night, Nov. 6, at the Methodist Parsonage. Sally Downing will be the hostess for this 7 o'clock meeting. Betty Blake will give the devotion. The evening will be spent making popcorn balls for the candy table at the church sale Friday and Saturday.
